Letter to Parents

Dear Parents,

Hello to you all! I hope you had a wonderful summer. I cannot wait to hear about all the fun things that you did over the holidays from you and your child.

As you might have learnt from other sources, “Love to Learn. Learn to Love.” is our school theme this year. There are indeed many ways to interpret this catchy theme. Our goal is to instill a love of learning in our students so that ultimately they would put their knowledge to good use and make this world a better place. It is our hope that you could join us in carrying out this theme at home.

This is the second year since TSL adopted Invitational Education. The Invitational Education model is a fresh approach to the teaching-learning process that is based on trust, respect, intentionality and optimism. Keeping in line with the philosophy behind this approach, new practices will be implemented in the coming months. Do let us know how you feel about them!

As swine flu continues to spread across the territory with alarming intensity, now is the perfect time to teach our kids to be more attentive to personal hygiene and preventive measures. Let us do our part in fending off this potentially deadly disease and make this world a safer place to live in.

Last year, we celebrated our 10th anniversary. As a new decade unfolds and a new phase begins, I am truly glad that you are here with me. Let us embrace the spirit of collaboration and commitment as we work towards our common goal – to create a brighter future for us and generations to come through quality education.

I wish you all a rewarding and memorable school year!

Yours sincerely,

Principal Derek V. M. Yeung
